

The Good Seed is the Word of God The times and seasons are about to change

A SEED IS A CURIOUS THING. Packed inside this tiny organic structure, often no bigger than a punctuation period, are the building blocks and mathematics necessary to clothe an entire planet with verdure. Lying patiently in the soil through the winter, these tiny capsules burst forth in the spring to give life, color and food to the warming world around them. As they emerge, they bring again the creatures which we have missed through the colder months of the year.

Some seeds are humble; others proud. But each has its place in restoring life to this ball of rock and soil we call home. Most seeds bring forth plants designed to attract insects to assist in their pollination, whether by smell or color; bees, for instance seem particularly attracted to yellow. Other insects see colors of the spectrum that are hidden from human eyes, and they visit mainly plants of that hue only. Whatever the creature, God has a plant for it, and both play a part in the perpetuation of the other, restoring and maintaining life on our oasis in the heavens.

Some seeds are more sturdy than their neighbors, and not all bring forth plants that are as pleasant to the eye or the nose as are others. Not all produce good food or provide any real benefit to the living environment around them — call them weeds; they just leech nutrients from the soil and give nothing back. Those seeds that bring forth plants that produce people food are generally of a more delicate nature and have to be more carefully tended.

Jesus, speaking metaphorically, referred to a time when plants from good seed and plants from bad would be separated and handled very differently. A time is coming when only that which is good will remain, and that which is nothing but weeds will be gathered and burned. Though it may appear that right now the world has more than its share of weeds ... things are about to change.

“QUOTABLE”

“To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven; A time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted; A time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance.”

—Ecclesiastes 3:1,2,4

“The creation of a thousand forests is in one acorn.”

—Ralph Waldo Emerson
