

Ye Shall Hear of ...

And then, and then, and then —

THERE IS BARELY A PLACE ON THE PLANET WHICH isn't right now engaged in some kind of conflict which is taking the lives of people whose only guilt is that of being a citizen of Planet Earth. Every day the brief reports on the evening news bare witness that something in our corner of the galaxy is terribly broken. And if it's not conflict, it's some other form of disaster that arrives in the form of hurricane, tornado, fire, flood and who knows what else. Right now the wicked heart of man is not the only enemy; there appears to also be an unseen hand messing with the controls that keep the boat steady. The planet heats up, then burns itself down. It freezes and floods itself away.

Recently it was announced by the people who know, that there's something out there that won't respond to our strongest antibiotics. We are returning to the days when we had little more defense than penicillin. Evil is catching back up, and all the smart men, and all the mighty men, and all the captains and such as usually have all the answers we need, are telling us they've got nothing left.

And this is just the beginning. Jesus saw this day two thousand years ago, and warned of it, right before He said, "Don't be troubled." We should definitely be unsettled, but not troubled. There's enough trouble going on without it also going on in the mind of the Christian. Being unsettled is not necessarily a bad thing. Being unsettled, by definition, means that we aren't settled down; humanly speaking, we're uncomfortable. When we're settled down we get stodgy, thick, slow; basically just plain old clogged up. When we're uncomfortable, we move; we rub that sore muscle; scratch that itch. We work it out.

There's a time to be still, and there's a time to move. If you are still living in a city dwelling where you have no chance of raising your own food and collecting your own water, then you may freely be troubled. If you aren't troubled now, you soon will be ... in spite of what your sensible friends may be telling you each time you suggest moving out of town.

There's nothing wrong with being "down to earth." But there's really not a whole lot of time left to liberate ourselves from the things that keep our feet "stuck to the earth."

Get uncomfortable — and get to work. Time's running out!

All these are the BEGINNING of sorrows ....
