

"Is Anybody Listening?"

Adapted from TonyHarrimanBlogspot.com: "What's It All About?"

When you think about it, it doesn't take long to realize that much of the trouble on our planet could best be handled if we were given a little heads-up ahead of time: "Don't build your home there;" "Don't get on that plane;" "Don't start that fire;" "That strange-looking man outside the movie theater, he's got a gun and bad intentions; tie him up." The list is as long as you have an imagination for, and once you've thought it through, you realize it doesn't take a degree in rocket science to help you assemble it.

We have to ask the question, why doesn't God give more immediate—not thousands of years—immediate advance warnings of trouble and disaster? What purpose might be served by allowing a tsunami to wash across the land and sweep away, not thousands, but hundreds of thousands of, dare I say it, innocent by-standers? Are there no text-messages of warning? Out of all of us watching and listening to the broadcast coming down from Heaven, Did nobody get the memo? Nobody?

And there, of course, lies part of the problem with communication. Wisdom is trying to share her advice, but the listener hears a totally different language; it's almost like our Father is speaking in tongues—with no interpreter. It's been this way since the beginning: "Don't eat that fruit!" "Don't bow down to that god." "Don't behave like that." And for some bizarre reason, the kids do it anyway. What more do we think God can do? If we had a heavenly dream filled with divine instruction, we, or at least the people closest to us, would likely put it down to indigestion. If God were to write His will in the sky, we'd start looking around for the stunt pilot.

We are mostly unfamiliar with the language of heaven, and often refuse to observe even the signs in the natural world. There must have been an awful lot of open-mouthed people watching as groups of twos and sevens of the animal kingdom made their deliberate way to the Ark of old, but is there any record of a single soul outside of Noah's family staggering to the open door requesting entrance? Were there no children curious enough to become the first recorded stowaways? Really?

Where are all the good psychics when you need them? I imagine they're out there still trying to have their first big win. I don't think I've ever seen that headline: "Physic Wins Lottery—Again!"

All levity aside, whatever the reason that God chooses not to be emphatic with us remains to be seen. But somewhere beyond the veil, preparations are being made to make it very clear why things have gone the way they have. For now are we seriously going to accuse the single wisest Person in existence of falling down on the job? Perhaps when our kids talk to us that way, they have a pretty good point; after all, we're only human, right? We only see so far. But blindness and short-sightedness are not conditions from which God suffers.

God hath no need of speaking to us in tongues, and wastes nothing in vagueness. That which we need to know He makes plain, with no unnecessary ambiguity. If there is confusion, it is not the fault of our Father. We may not get all the answers we seek this side of the veil. And we can get no Disney Fast Pass through the Heavenly gates; we're going to have to wait. Can't stop the planet, and we definitely can't get off. But be sure of this: we aren't left alone here to deal with all this grief and sickness.

Pretty soon in the northern hemisphere spring will flutter her sleepy eyes awake, and we will begin yet another new normal. We encourage you to go to our website and look around; there is much material to be blessed by and to share with your neighbors near and far. There are hundreds of Sabbath Sermons and Seminars to enjoy, and books to read or buy—or both.

Hang in there. There's so much better just ahead. Not long now.
