Hello Special Friends:

I would like to communicate with you concerning my present health. Long-time friends have been attempting to contact me, but my physical and mental health has complicated my ability to respond. Friends are doing their best to stay in touch with me, Judy and the Ministry. I know I owe many letters and phone calls to dear friends, but it's just not possible for me at this time.

Parkinson's is no fun! If I don't call back or write ... please forgive me. I was informed early on by physicians that Parkinson's can be a progressively debilitating disease, and this has indeed been my experience. I have come far enough down this road to know that, concerning my case, things are changing more dramatically.

The number of my tumbles has been increasing over the last three to four months and I'm having to guard my steps in the house, the yard and just about everywhere—my life is complicated. To each one of you personally, for all of your caring, thank you, thank you, thank you!

All this causes extra burdens for Judy because I am not able to keep everything together as I should. God has been good to us and especially good to me in these matters. I have refused to keep conversation of my sickness to a minimum; I discuss this new reality when it's appropriate. I don't need sympathy, but I do need friends who understand, or at least try to understand, what's going on with me physically and mentally.

What does all this mean? It simply means that life is going on in a new and challenging manner. I'm not trying to convey that I am depressed. I just want friends and family to understand. If I had to sum up my experience right now, I would say it's just plain complicated!

The world is changing more quickly than we ever anticipated. I am going to try to make a special effort to communicate with you, by Enews or letter, and from time to time bring you up to date on end-time events and Bible prophecy.

This vital Ministry that I began more than 40 years ago is currently distributing publications by the thousands, more so now than ever! Thank you for your ongoing support ... this work is ever so important.

Mission Texas is an example of one of our most important projects. Earlier this year we set a goal to distribute 240,000 copies of "The Perfect Storm is Coming!" across the State of Texas. At the time of this writing, supporters have sponsored almost 120,000 copies of this powerful booklet for mailing across 23 major Texan cities, to which we say: "Praise God!" Keep it up, you're doing great.

I wish God's blessing for you and your house, and I want to thank each of you again for your ongoing love, prayers and gifts. Jesus is coming soon!

Maranatha! Come, Dear Lord Jesus!

Charles Wheeling, President
