

"The Fields Are White for Harvest" ~John 4:35

Heaven erupts in celebration over every single sinner who repents ~Luke 15:7, 10

"The harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few; Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that he will send forth labourers into his harvest." ~Matthew 9:37, 38

Could we see with our natural eyes the few remaining names to be added to the Heavenly ledger, how dimly might we view the things that presently excite the minds of the small and great of the earth. Make no mistake, our Father has a faithful record of those who will make up His Kingdom, and has provided a thousand or more ways to reach them.

We live in a world full of constant noise, busy schedules, and endless distractions. It is easy to assume that tomorrow will look much like today, pushing off our deepest spiritual priorities for a more convenient season. Yet Scripture and the writings of Ellen G. White consistently sound a clear, sobering reminder: time is short, and our window of opportunity to work for souls is rapidly closing. In Testimonies, Volume 9, it is plainly stated, "Time is short, and our forces must be organized to do a larger work" (p. 27). This urgency is not meant to spark panic or prompt speculative date-setting—an error repeatedly warned against. Instead, recognizing the shortness of time is meant to awaken us from spiritual complacency. As noted in The Southern Watchman (April 9, 1903), "There is no time now to sleep, no time to indulge in useless regrets. He who ventures to slumber now will miss precious opportunities of doing good."

Every day of human probation is a sacred trust.

Often, we are tempted to substitute financial donations or passive church attendance for active, one-on-one ministry. However, in Christ's Object Lessons, we are reminded that money cannot take the place of individual labor: "There are many who are giving to the support of the gospel, who ought also to be giving personal service... It is the privilege and duty of all who have health and strength to render to God active service" (p. 343). True soul-winning happens through everyday compassion—a kind word to a neighbor, a prayer offered with a hurting friend, or a willingness to share hope with someone searching for meaning.

We are warned that Satan "knows that his time is short, and he seeks at every point to counterwork the work of the Lord upon this earth" (Testimonies, Vol. 9, p. 16). If the enemy of souls works tirelessly because his time is limited, how much more earnest should God's people be in sharing light and truth?

While believers sometimes hesitate, our spiritual adversary operates with relentless focus.

But even in the midst of urgent labor, God does not call us to frantic burnout. True effectiveness flows from daily connection with Christ. In My Life Today, we are counseled "Though time is short, and there is a great work to be done, the Lord is not pleased to have us so prolong our seasons of activity that there will not be time for periods of rest, for the study of the Bible, and for communion with God" (p. 131). When our hearts are anchored in Him, our service becomes steady, compassionate, and Spirit-led. Imagine "What a work might be accomplished in a short time if every professed follower of Christ were a true channel of light!" (Be Like Jesus, p. 276). We do not know how many days remain before history reaches its climax, nor how many opportunities we will have to reach the people around us. Today is the day to awake, redeem the time, and step forward in faith—while it is still called today.

Excerpts:

"As troubles increase and earth's final crisis deepens, millions will be searching for answers. Today God's people have unique opportunities for witnessing. To us has been entrusted the last warning for a perishing world. Filled with the promised 'latter rain' of the Holy Spirit, thousands will soon proclaim the truth for this time—the first, second, and third angels' messages of Revelation chapter 14!" ~Getting Ready, page 16

"In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and He shall direct thy paths." ~Proverbs 3:6 / Getting Ready, page 15

"Hoarded wealth will soon be worthless. When the decree shall go forth that none shall buy or sell except they have the mark of the beast, very much means will be of no avail." ~Getting Ready, page 14

"A prudent man foreseeth the evil, and hideth himself; but the simple pass on, and are punished." ~Proverbs 22:3 / Getting Ready, page 12

Catch THIS Vision:

For more than forty years we have stood ready and eager to ship books, mass mailers, prison ministry materials, and digital tools wherever doors open—frequently at zero cost. In the Kingdom of Heaven, funds are seldom an issue. Here on the earth, the greatest need appears to be, not riches, but for workers to go into the harvest. The harvest is always ready; every day souls make a final decision, sometimes with their lives.

Countless grassroots efforts are being led by students, retirees, and everyone in between. Many frontline soldiers of Jesus have the passion, but lack the funding, to walk the city streets, rural roads, and local marketplaces, or to send affordable mailers to entire communities. Maybe you want to sponsor these ventures directly; there's no shortage of need.

So many evangelists are eager to provide literature for impoverished regions across the world, and are often willing to fly materials there themselves; that is another practical way you may step in today. Maybe you commute from city to city and would like printed or digital tools to share along the way.

There are countless ways to seek, find, and awaken precious souls this side of eternity, and the Lord has not left us to do it alone. Our Lord will provide us with weapons, and we'll do our best to provide you with tools. Opportunities are many, but the clock is winding down. Our hopes are about to become a reality.
